We just added something exciting and new to our online store—a jigsaw puzzle of Indian Territory Map prior to 1889.

This puzzle map is a great way to learn the history of Indian Territory prior to Oklahoma statehood. In 1830 Indian Territory was set aside by the US government as a home for the forcibly displaced American Indians.

We have added three books to our online store and in our store at the Talbot Library and Museum in Colcord.

The Long Dusty Road: Morning Chores and How We Landed In Oklahoma - By Gene Fisher

"The Trials and Tribulations of two immigrant families struggling to make a better life for themselves in a New Land" Self-Published in 2016, Mr. Fisher has written his family story of descendants of his Fisher and Miller families. Order here.

Sequoyah: The Cherokee Genius - By Stan Hoig. This is a classic biography of Sequoyah. Stan Hoig shares new and important information about Sequoyah and explores his life against the broad backdrop of Cherokee history. Order here.

Our Land, Our People: A Trail of Tears Narrative - By Gary Chapman. This book is back in stock! It was published in 2014, and concerns the life and family of John Francis Bell born 1829 in the Cherokee Nation East. He was born into a mixed Scot-Cherokee family. It is a fictional narrative, based on real people, the descendants of John and Charlotte Adair Bell who intermarried with Starr, Duncan and Watie families, all prominent Cherokee families.
